

SANTA CRUZ PORT DISTRICT, CA

INVITES YOUR INTEREST IN THE POSITION OF

PORT DIRECTOR

THE COMMUNITY & PORT DISTRICT

The Santa Cruz Port District is an independent special district formed in 1951 to construct and operate Santa Cruz Harbor, located 70 miles south of San Francisco and 35 miles north of Monterey in the City of Santa Cruz, California. Santa Cruz Harbor was constructed in 1964, and expanded in 1973. It provides over 800 permanent slips for recreational, commercial, and research opportunities. Additionally, the harbor provides a launching facility and access to the Monterey Bay, a national marine sanctuary, and secure storage for kayaks, rowing shells, paddleboards, and trailerable vessels.

For coastal mariners, the harbor is maintained as a year-round harbor of safe refuge coupled with visitor berthing. The harbor also offers RV camping, a public beach, and scenic walking trails. Numerous charter operations provide fishing, whale watching, pleasure cruising, kayaking, paddleboarding, and sailing instruction opportunities.

Santa Cruz Harbor is home to ten major concessions, including 5 restaurants, and more than 30 other smaller businesses which operate directly from harbor property. There are also many other marine-related businesses in the vicinity which contribute significantly to the local economy.

Santa Cruz, with a population of nearly 64,000, boasts some of California's best beaches along with 29 miles of coastline, redwood-covered mountains, laid-back towns and organic farms. The area's beach boardwalk, museums, art galleries, steam train rides, and numerous local events, combined with a mild climate means boundless activities for residents and visitors throughout the year.

The Port District operates as a government-owned business, funded almost entirely by user fees. With an annual operating budget of over $8.5 million, the Port District provides for nearly all of its own services including maintenance, dredging, security, financial, and administrative functions. It is very much like a small city, operating within the City of Santa Cruz boundaries. The only outside services required are for major fire suppression, and occasional assistance from the City of Santa Cruz Police and Santa Cruz County Sheriff's Department in jail transports and booking for criminal offenses committed in the harbor. The Port District voluntarily acts as a "Good Samaritan" using its harbor patrol boat to assist the Coast Guard and local agencies in year-round emergency ocean rescue and law enforcement services. Over the harbor's 50+-year history, it has experienced and recovered well from natural disasters including earthquakes, damaging storm events and shoaling, tsunamis, and fish kills.

Twenty-seven full-time employees provide all the necessary harbor services seven days a week, twenty-four hours a day, year-round. In addition to this, approximately 20-50 seasonal and part-time employees are hired during peak periods.

Santa Cruz Harbor was constructed in 1964, and expanded in 1973.

ADMINISTRATION

The Santa Cruz Port District is governed by a five-person Board of Commissioners. The Commission is elected at-large by the voting residents of the Port District. Commissioners receive no pay for their service, and are elected to four-year seats. The basic responsibilities of the Port Commission are to set the policies of the Port District, approve the yearly operating budget, govern land-use questions, and act as judge for any tenant disputes over policy or enforcement of Port District regulations. The Commission directly hires the Port Director to act as an officer of the municipal corporation.

THE POSITION

Under the direction of and reporting to a five-member elected Board of Port Commissioners, the Port Director plans, organizes, coordinates, and directs the activities related to the operation, security, law enforcement, maintenance, dredging and improvement of the Santa Cruz harbor. The Port Director is responsible for accomplishing the Port District's multiple missions which include a full array of marine and general services and facilities for commercial and recreational boaters and the general public, and for managing the harbor in a manner that benefits its wide variety of users.

Essential functions of the Port Director may include, but are not limited to, the following:

- Administers and directs activities of the Port District, including Operations, Facilities Maintenance and Engineering, and Administration departments.
- Develops, recommends, and implements policies, programs, and fiscal management for the effective administration and operation of District functions.
- Responsible for identifying and securing public and/or private financing for improvements to Port District facilities.
- Designs, establishes, and maintains an organizational structure and staffing to effectively accomplish the District's goals and objectives.

- Develops and implements long-range plans for infrastructure improvements, capital projects, and ongoing maintenance and repairs.
- Administers the District's annual budget and manages operations to achieve established objectives within available resources.
- Oversees commercial and property management leases and contracts.
- Serves as the District's Risk Manager; acts to limit District's liability and administers District's insurance policies and claims.
- Interacts with District's legal counsel to ensure compliance with regulations, address legal challenges, and maintain confidentiality.
- Represents the District in labor negotiations.
- Provides leadership and direction to District employees by setting organizational standards, promoting communication between District departments, and projecting a strong customer service orientation.
- Represents the District before elected officials, public agencies, harbor user groups, media, and community organizations; promotes positive public relations and interagency cooperation.
- Serves as the primary liaison between the District and the media, disseminating appropriate information in a timely, efficient, and professional manner.

THE IDEAL CANDIDATE

The Santa Cruz Port District is seeking a strong, broadly intelligent, focused, and hard-working individual to manage and direct all activities of the Santa Cruz Harbor and Port District.
