

Bill Hanson

Bill Hanson is Vice President of Government Relations and US Business Development for Great Lakes Dredge & Dock Company. He has been with GLDD for 24 years where he has worked in their division offices in New York and Jacksonville prior to transferring to the corporate headquarters in Oak Brook, IL. He handled GLDD's market in Latin America and the Caribbean for 12 years before assuming his current role in 2003. In his current role, he works primarily with Corps of Engineers and dredging policy issues as well as developing business opportunities for GLDD in the private non-Corps sector.

Hanson holds a BS in Ocean Engineering from Texas A&M University in 1979, and began his career with the Corps of Engineers in Galveston and then Los Angeles, before moving to the private sector where he worked first for a Long Beach based marine contractor, Connolly Pacific before moving to GLDD.
